Three Students Die In College Dorm Blaze

340 U. Of Oklahoma Men Routed In Night; 19 Reported Hurt

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 3—(AP)—Fire whipped through a wooden dormitory on the University of Oklahoma campus early today, burning to death at least three students.

More than three hundred escaped the burning former Navy barracks but 19 were injured, two critically.

The three bodies were removed from the ruins but were unidentified.

The fire broke out about 2:30 a. m. and quickly spread through the two story, wooden building.

A list of those in the building could not be obtained immediately because many students had gone home for the weekend.

The dormitory normally houses 400 men.

Origin of the fire is not known. It was believed to have started in the middle of the building, which has five wings.

Alvin Levine, Oklahoma City, who was sleeping in the dormitory at the time, said that there was some confusion but no one was panicky.

"The first we knew of the fire was when guys ran down the hall yelling 'fire, fire.' We thought it was a gag but I got up and opened the door," Levine said.

"The heat was terrific. I grabbed a pair of pants and a jacket and then tried to open the screen. It was stuck, I believe from paint because they had been painting the building. I kicked it out.

"I climbed out on the ledge. We were on the second story. There were about 10 other guys on the ledge. Some were throwing their stuff out the window but I didn't have time.

"I lost everything."

Missing Girl Found In City - Married

Attractive Marian Beck, 21, of Youngstown, reported missing from her home since Nov. 5, was found Friday in Salem—happily married.

The young woman, an employee of the Youngstown Christ Mission, is a deaf mute. She had been last seen at a social gathering on Nov. 5 at the Deaf Mute Club in Youngstown.

Police in Youngstown worked all the angles in trying to locate the girl, but their search was fruitless. Friday an inquiry was received by Salem police, regarding Miss Beck. They located her living at 541 Ohio ave. with her new husband Roy E. Kyser.

The two were married Wednesday afternoon by Justice of the Peace Felix Butch of Lisbon, it was learned.

Her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Baume, came to Salem last night and was reportedly "very happy about the whole thing."

Hope For Release Of Yanks In Far East

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(AP)—A new Chinese Communist order "expelling" Consul General Angus Ward from Mukden raised hopes today for the early release of four other American prisoners in the Far East.

Ward and his aides, including 15 Americans, are now expected to start home early next week by way of the North China port of Tientsin. After trying to leave for months, they were finally ordered to depart by 8 a. m. Wednesday by the Mukden municipal government.

The State department meanwhile, while hopefully awaited word from Moscow on the prospects for freeing two ECA shipping officials who were taken to Soviet-supported North Korea on Sept. 22.

Russia agreed nearly three weeks ago, after two American requests, to take up the matter with the Communist "peoples republic."

The United States turned to Russia for help because it does not recognize the North Korea regime and has no representatives at Pyongyang, its capital.

3 Road Mishaps Blamed On Ice

No One Injured In Accidents Friday

No one was injured in three area accidents on icy pavement Friday night. Two accidents occurred within a minute and a tenth of a mile of each other, according to State Highway patrol reports.

At 8:05 p. m. on Route 62, three and a half miles west of Salem, a car driven by Helen R. Beatty, 33, of Alliance slid on slippery pavement, went off the south side of the road and hit a small building belonging to A. C. Greenmeyer of R. D. 1, Salem.

Two cars following her, driven by Daniel Cherry, 35, of Alliance and Dean Shepard, 18, of R. D. 4, Salem, collided, in attempting to stop and avoid hitting the Beatty car.

The Beatty car was slightly damaged but the Shepard and Cherry cars received major damages.

At 8:06 p. m., on Route 62 three miles west of Salem, cars driven by William J. Scullion, Jr., 20, of 445 E. Seventh st. and Howard J. Davis, 48, of Alliance collided.

The Scullion car slid on icy pavement, hit the rear of the Davis car, left the road and struck a sign belonging to George Davies of R. D. 1, Salem.

Both cars were slightly damaged. Davis told State patrolmen his back was wrenched.

A truck and car crashed together at 6 p. m. Friday on Route 45, a mile and a half south of Salem.

The car driven by Mike Angels, 57, of East Liverpool slid into the truck driven by Melvin R. Ott, 26, of Sebring. Both vehicles were traveling south. The left front of the Angels' car was damaged.

Argument Over Lewis Ends In Knife Wound

PLAINES, Pa., Dec. 3—(AP)—An argument between a miner and his wife as to whether "John L. Lewis is a good man" ended with the husband in the hospital suffering from a knife wound in the abdomen.

Plains police gave this account of the argument between Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans at their home last night:

While the pair discussed the United Mine Workers leader, Mrs. Evans was slicing a bun. Mrs. Evans questioned Lewis' wisdom in placing the anthracite miners on three days a week.

Somehow, in the discussion, Evans hit the knife and the blade entered the stomach.

Fiery Lava Threatens Tiny Italian Town

Burning Flow Slowed Some; Residents Stay Up But Haven't Left

CANTANIA, Sicily, Dec. 3—(AP)—Fiery lava from erupting Mt. Etna today threatened the little Sicilian town of Maletto but an official source at noon said the burning flow had "slowed down" considerably several kilometers from the town of 3,600 inhabitants.

The police chief at Catania, who reported on this most advanced of several flows from Mt. Etna, said the pressure of the eruption appeared to have decreased because new craters were acting as "safety valves."

He estimated the "pent-up" lava was flowing from at least ten openings in the mountain's side.

At dawn, exactly 24 hours after Etna began its new eruptions, monstrous flames shot toward the sky from the main crater. A four-second earthquake jolted the area with a terrifying roar.

The flow advancing on Maletto appeared no longer to threaten Bronte, a town of 18,000 southwest of Maletto.

One witness said the lava had reached a point three miles from Maletto, destroying outlying farmhouses. The flow during the night reached a point twelve and one-half miles from Bronte, then deviated toward Maletto. The fiery mass sowed destruction among rich fruit orchards as it advanced down the slope of the mountain.

The most advanced stream bypassed the villages of Chiavazza and Giardinazzo in the Bronte area. Some farmhouses, which had been abandoned, were destroyed. Witnesses said fiery blasts of air moving ahead of the lava started forest fires.

No casualties had been reported yet.

Residents of towns throughout the eruption area stayed up all night but did not begin to evacuate their homes.

Christmas City Turns On Its Lights

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Dec. 3—(AP)—The "Christmas City of the U.S.A." will glow tonight with the famed star of Bethlehem—this steel city's symbol of peace, good will toward all men.

The 81-foot-high electric star throws its light 28 miles against the backdrop of stubby South Mountain and the red-orange flames from steel blast furnaces.

The gigantic star goes on at 6:30 p. m. and it'll remain lighted until Jan. 2, a beacon to thousands of visitors. Last year thousands came from all over the United States to see the star.

And with the star and its 3,000 bulbs shining brightly, a myriad of other lights will be switched on tonight at the same time, turning industrial Bethlehem into a "Great Bright Way."

A 60-foot Christmas tree, composed of 60 individual, tiny spruces, is mounted on the middle arch of the hill-to-hill bridge that connects this Eastern Pennsylvania community's north, south and east sections.

Hints Hopkins Helped Reds To Get Secrets

Ex-Army Captain Tells Of Documents Flown To Russia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(AP)—A former Army officer said last night that wholesale lots of secret U. S. documents and material that Soviet officers called uranium to "bomb powder" were flown to Russia under wartime pressure from the late Harry Hopkins for secrecy and speed.

The one-time officer, G. Racey Jordan, said Hopkins, who was confidential assistant to the late President Roosevelt, was "the button the Russians touched every time they needed emergency help."

Jordan, identifying himself as a wartime captain assigned to a Lend-Lease air route from this country to Russia, told the story to Commentator Fulton Lewis, Jr.

It all happened, Jordan said, while he was stationed at Great Falls, Mont., where Lend-Lease planes took off for Fairbanks, Alaska, for delivery to Russian pilots.

Jordan said he became suspicious of the Russians because of the "ever increasing amounts of baggage" they carried.

Finally, he began checking their large shipments of rope-bound suitcases, he said.

In them he found a tremendous quantity of State department documents—carbon or photostatic copies of them—and on each of them a piece had been cut out of the top and the bottom of the page, where the stamp secret or confidential was always placed.

Jordan said he also found a letter on White House stationery "which impressed me because it had the name Harry Hopkins printed in the upper left hand corner."

Part of the message, he said, went: "Had a hell of a time getting these away from Groves." Lewis suggested that the reference might have been to Gen. Leslie Groves, head of the secret atomic bomb project during the war.

Investigate Causes Of Fire Fumes

BARBERTON, Dec. 3—(AP)—Tests were under way today to track down fumes which put 26 firemen in the hospital. Carbon monoxide and phosgene—a World War I killer—have been suspected.

The mysterious vapor made Fire Chief Edward A. Peery and 25 of his 34 men ill during a jewelry store blaze Thursday night. Burning plastics, used in jewelry cases and other objects in the store, were thought to have caused the fumes.

Ten of the 26 fire-fighters were released from the hospital yesterday, and the rest, with a few exceptions, were expected to be out today.

The experts were divided and uncertain over what kind of poisonous smoke billowed from the H. E. Simon Jewelry store during the $100,000 blaze, which Fire Capt. Luther H. Culbertson said apparently started from defective wiring.

Pensions For All Seen By Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(AP)—The government's labor statistics chief said today that pensions for everybody seem a sure bet with "the old and the near-old" making up half the nation's voting population.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said many workers between 40 and 60 are "very properly concerned about their bleak economic future once they become branded as 'too old to work.'"

"In a democratic society, responsive to the needs of its citizens, it is almost a truism to state that their voice will be heard, and that their just demands will be met."

There are now about 11,000,000 men and women aged 65 or over, Clague said.

Township Trustees Association OKs Commission's Plan

LISBON, Dec. 3—Expansion of the Columbiana county highway system, advocated by the board of commissioners, was given approval of the township trustees association of the county at a meeting here Friday.

County commissioners will now meet with respective boards of township trustees relative to absorption of certain through roads in their township which will meet specifications of connecting two county roads or state or federal routes, and thereby relieve the township of maintenance of approximately 10 miles per township.

The absorbed roads would be on the agenda for improvement by the county, and add at least 170 miles to the present system of 127 miles of county highways.

County commissioners called the meeting here Friday, inviting trustees of all townships to obtain views on the proposal fostered by County Commissioner John E. Smith for improvement of rural roads, many of which are traversed by school buses.

Kim Crawford, president of the board, presided over the meeting at which Mr. Smith outlined his program of road improvement. He declared that absorption of township roads would aid the township in that they would have less mileage to maintain, and at the same time the county could inaugurate a road building program out of road funds from gas tax and motor vehicle license revenue to enable the rural areas to have better roads, a feature which townships cannot do because of limited revenue.

Mr. Smith pledged himself to make this program work, announcing that he expects to be a candidate to succeed himself next year, and in addition to lightening the mileage load of the townships he proposed to give the townships as much additional aid as possible.

A vote of the proposal resulted in 50 ballots out of 75 percent, with 48 favoring the issue and two negative votes.

Chengtu Capital Endangered By Reds

CHENG TU, China, Dec. 3—(AP)—Chinese Nationalist leaders watched the inevitable Red shadow spread into their last major mainland haven of Western China today.

The Nationalists tried to get their government going again in this hopelessly overcrowded new refugee capital. But the Communists may not let them stay here very long.

The Reds, plunging deep into Western China, cut the highway between Chengtu and Kunming, 390 miles to the south. This official report followed information that the Communists also had cut the route between here and Chungking, 170 miles south-east. Chungking fell to the Reds Wednesday.

The government acknowledged the Reds had pushed into Su-yung, 180 miles south of Chengtu and one of the three highways linking Chungtu with Kunming.

Coal Work Cutdown Hampers Steel Plans

(Brush-Moore News Service)
CANTON, Dec. 3.—Shareholders of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., meeting Friday at executive offices in Canton, authorized amendments to the articles of incorporation permitting an increase from 50,000 to 150,000 shares of no-par common stock and permitting the issuance of up to 50,000 shares of $100 par cumulative preferred stock.

Holders of 91 percent of the 17,500 outstanding preferred shares, represented in person or by proxy, agreed to exchange their 6 percent dividend certificates for new 5 per cent dividend certificates, the reduced rate to be effective Jan. 1, 1950, and continuing callable at $105. They voted also for modification of borrowing limitations to permit the publishing company's continued expansion in buildings, equipment and operations. All preferred shares not exchanged will be redeemed by the company after Dec. 31.

Divisions of Brush-Moore newspapers, Inc., include the Canton Repository, Steubenville Herald-Star, East Liverpool Review, Salem News, Marion Star, Portsmouth Times; Ironton Tribune, Salisbury (Md.) Times and Radio Stations WHBC in Canton and WPAV in Portsmouth.

Roy D. Moore, president, and William H. Vorey, secretary treasurer, reporting to shareholders, summarized a three-year program of plant rehabilitation thus far requiring the expenditure of $1,500,000 from earnings and assets of the business.

"In this period," they said, "We have built an entire new plant at Salem and have in course of completion a new plant at East Liverpool. New presses and much additional mechanical equipment have been bought for Salem, East Liverpool, Portsmouth, Marion, Canton, Steubenville and Salisbury. To meet the growth of the Canton Repository and to better serve the newspaper's readers we have ahead the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000 for a new 80-page high speed press and a building addition in which to house it.

"The company also has found satisfaction in making contributions of approximately $600,000 on behalf of its employees in a retirement pension fund."

ZANESVILLE, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Publication of Zanesville's three daily newspapers was resumed today in the wake of a one-day strike of Union printers.

All three papers—The Times Recorder, a morning publication, and The Signal and The News, afternoon papers — missed one day of publication.

O. B. Littick, president of both The Times Recorder and The Signal, said terms of the strike settlement gave the typographical union jurisdiction over teletype-setting perforating machine operators.

Littick said the typographical union agreed that its members would work for the next year for the present scale of $80.63 for day work and $86.34 for night work on a 37½-hour week basis. Only The Signal and The Times Recorder have teletype perforating machines, Littick said.

Research Board Chairman Sought

Key Defense Position Vacant Since Nov. 10

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson's return from Europe focussed attention today on a major vacancy in a high Defense post—chairman of the research and development board.

The selection of a man to take over this top scientific-military job is largely Johnson's problem, although the actual nomination will be made by President Truman, subject to senate confirmation.

The position has been vacant since November 10, when Dr. Karl Compton resigned and left Washington to recuperate from an illness.

Compton was the second chairman of the agency, which was set up in the Defense department under the service unification law. First chairman was Dr. Vannevar Bush, who served the government throughout the war, then was named to the RDB chairmanship when the agency was formed in 1947.

The board is responsible for overall direction of research looking to the development of new weapons and equipment used by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The names of several university presidents have been mentioned in speculation on a successor for Compton.

One of them is Dr. Lee A. DuBridge physicist and president of the California Institute of Technology.

Another reported under consideration is Dr. Robert L. Sterns, head of the University of Colorado.

The job pays $14,000 a year.

Fibroid Tumors Should Be Checked

FIBROID tumors of the uterus are so common in women during the middle years of life that they can be considered practically normal. These tumors of the uterus or womb are made up of muscle and scar-like tissue which varies greatly in size; that is, some are small and some quite large.

The symptoms which these tumors produce depend on their size and blood supply and their location. Some of them never produce any symptoms and tend to shrink at the time of menopause, therefore, never needing any treatment at all. Others sometimes produce difficulties which require special attention. The most common symptom is excessive or painful bleeding. Discomfort or even severe pain in the lower part of the abdomen is another common sign of a fibroid tumor.

When fibroid tumors are discovered they should be watched carefully because there is a tendency for them to grow gradually and for symptoms to develop. This depends partly on the age of the patient when the tumor is first noticed.

Another general principle is that after the menopause, surgery is the best treatment for those fibroids which require any treatment. Surgery can either involve removing the tumor or tumors, or more commonly, the whole uterus with the tumors attached has to be taken out.

Except for certain general rules, fibroid tumors of the uterus have to be considered on an individual basis. They may be large or small, they may produce symptoms or there may be none, treatment may not be necessary, or there may be a question of choice between several methods. In addition to the severe symptoms which they can produce, fibroids can become cancerous and for these reasons should never be neglected.

Bet You Don't Know This About Advertising

by Susan

Quiz No. 2

How much does it cost per dozen to advertise the well-known brands of oranges? Is it 2¢? 3¢? 5¢ a dozen?

Answer: It costs less than ½¢ a dozen to advertise the big-name brands of oranges.

That's only half the story. Advertising lowers your cost two ways:

Cuts the selling costs. And by helping make mass production possible, lowers the production costs, too.

So advertising saves you many times that ½¢ per dozen.

Columbus Planning Off-Street Parking

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A $3,000,000 off-street parking system for downtown Columbus entered the financing and engineering stage last night.

Mayor James A. Rhodes and City council agreed on the system. It calls for a 750-car parking deck over the Scioto river at Broad street and a double-deck underground facility for 1,000 cars beneath Capitol square.

The proposal for the lot under the statehouse grounds would require state approval, officials said.

The Scioto river deck would extend 200 feet over the river. The Capitol square garage would be a block long and 180 feet wide.

Cattle Drove - 1825

Sometime when you're caught in a slow moving line of traffic you might think back to Salem traffic jams of the 1820's, caused by numerous droves of cattle going from fertile Ohio dairylands to the populous markets of the East. Sometimes the herds numbered only a few animals and were handled by a boy and a dog. Other droves had hundreds of cattle and required several men on horseback to keep them together. On their way through town they blocked all streets, and pedestrians, had to seek safety on porches or in doorways. In rainy weather the animals' hooves churned the unpaved streets to a quagmire and on sunny days raised immense clouds of dust, to the considerable annoyance of Salem housewives.

Our forefathers, working and living in the slower moving, less specialized world of the early 1800's, could see very plainly that the way to have more was to produce more. Today some people seem to think that a high standard of living can be "negotiated." Mullins and its employees demonstrate daily that they believe that good work is the answer to the problem of good living, whether you're working for yourself, or as part of a corporate enterprise.

A Fundamental Difference

Senator Bricker's decision to advocate formal alliance between Jeffersonian Democrats and Republicans may have been made prematurely, as far as the technique of political organization is concerned. That remains to be seen.

But aside from that, there no longer is any room for reasonable doubt about the circumstances which make formal alliance logical. An informal alliance already exists, in the form of the anti-socialist bloc in both houses of congress.

This bloc began to crystalize before the war. Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, though claiming the support of a majority of Democrats in Congress, produced an intra-party cleavage. Some Democrats, mostly from southern states, lined up with the Republican party more often than with Mr. Roosevelt's new deal coalition on issues where the decision was for and against more power for the federal government. Likewise, some Republicans were found more often with the new deal coalition on key issues than with their own party.

For the first time since the civil war, there is a fundamental difference of opinion about the proper role of the federal government. The difference has been concealed only by political double-talk as politicians tried to cover their confusion with one hand while grabbing for votes with the other.

One of the double-talkers was James F. Byrnes, presumably a new dealer because he served it and worked under its banner, yet who now admits he is personally opposed to the grab for ever-increasing federal power. Another is Wayne Morse of Oregon, who professes to be a Republican when that's the expedient thing to do, yet votes and talks in favor of the same things advocated by President Truman. Mr. Truman himself had trouble making up his mind; he finally resolved his doubts in favor of stringing along with the side which he believes has the more popular votes.

In 1948 that proved to be a politically sound decision. By 1952 it might not be so sound. That's what Senator Bricker is talking about. A working alliance between Jeffersonian Democrats and Jeffersonian Republicans—a solid front against federal power-grabbing—would be a momentous change in the political pattern of the United States.

Time Changes All Things

A reader scanning the daily run of the news is sometimes reminded that there was a time when the accusation of Communist taint in a labor union was automatically denied by such strident defendants of unionism as Philip Murray and Walter Reuther.

Today the same men are making news by saying exactly the opposite. Mr. Murray is sweeping the C. I. O. clean, he says, of the Communists he formerly claimed were not there. Mr. Reuther, currently in London to help organize a new international organization of unions free from Communist conspirators, is in the same awkward situation.

Some seven years ago, in June, 1942, another labor leader, John L. Lewis, made news when he persuaded the policy committee of United Mine Workers to adopt a resolution demanding that Mr. Murray "publicly renounce his allegiance to the support of Communism; that he discharge from the employment of C. I. O. those Communists now on the payroll, and that he cease to employ Communists as agents and representatives of the C. I. O."

Mr. Murray countered this blow after a fashion by explaining that "every man on the payroll of the C. I. O. was put there by John L. Lewis and worked for him nearly six years." The record on that is straight; it's no secret that Mr. Lewis used Communists to organize the

C. I. O. and that Mr. Murray inherited them when he succeeded Lewis as president of the organization.

But things would have been much simpler and a great deal more honest if some of the energy burned up in defensive bellowing when unions were under criticism for harboring agents of a foreign conspiracy had been applied, instead, to getting rid of them before they gave millions of honest trade union members in the United States a black eye they're still poulticing.

Contrary To Regulations

One key to understanding the essential difference between popular government and dictatorship is the case of Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin.

A few days ago, Capt. Crommelin was restored to duty in the Navy department, after receiving an official reprimand for behavior contrary to regulations during the recent bickering between his branch of the service and other branches over the ticklish issue of naval air power. He had taken a leading role in forcing the issue into the open, at the risk of his professional career. Another officer who took the same risk, Admiral Denfeld, was removed as chief of naval operations for his part in the bickering.

There are a good many Americans who think Capt. Crommelin should have been cut down to size for his part in what they think of as a rebellion. And there are a good many Americans who think Capt. Crommelin deserves credit for doing something contrary to regulations because he thought it was for the good of the country. He himself summed up their feeling in an Armistice day address when he said, "there is no place in this democracy of ours for a yes-man."

Between these two bodies of opinion lies the path of freedom—bounded on one side by a decent respect for authority and on the other by a decent respect for individual integrity. The fact is there never was a blow struck for freedom which was not "contrary to regulations." And the further fact is that if no one obeyed regulations, freedom would be impossible.

Songs For Sick Men

By Hal Boyle

JEAN TENNYSON RUNS one of the world's biggest concert bureaus—and is quite happy because it is losing money.

Some 300 top singers and musicians work for nothing on her programs, arranged to entertain disabled ex-servicemen in 130 veterans hospitals across the country.

Her list of artists include Lily Pons, Margaret Truman, Ezio Pinza, Artur Robinstein, and Gladys Swarthout.

"We started out with strictly long-haired performers," she said. "But now we have Benny Goodman, chorale groups—even a magician."

Like many another American woman at war's end, Miss Tennyson, an ex-valetess, star and operatic soprano, was grateful to the men who had fought. She wanted to do something to show her gratitude—but what?

"I was told that musical therapy was helpful to the 1,000,000 veterans in hospitals," she recalled, "so I decided that was the field I could help in best."

With Symphony Conductor Leopold Stokowski and a few other friends she organized the artists veterans hospital programs in 1947. By the end of this season this organization will have arranged for more than 350 concerts in some 90 veterans hospitals.

"EVENTUALLY WE HOPE to reach all the hospitals, particularly those in out-of-the-way places," she said.

Miss Tennyson, helped only by a secretary, schedules the concerts herself and pays all expenses of the operation. Whenever the seasonal tour of one of the artists on her list brings him near a veterans' hospital, she arranges in advance for him to appear there, too. And he's better not plead weariness or laryngitis when she gets on the long distance phone. For a cheerful blonde she can be mighty stubborn with lazy singers.

"But most of the artists have been very cooperative," she said. "Only two out of more than 300 have turned us down—and I'd rather not talk about them. Once an artist sees the effect he has on these shut-in vets he usually wants to come back and entertain them again."

When one singer was forced to cancel an engagement at a Chicago hospital, Jean flew out herself and kept the date.

Her office files are full of letters from doctors praising the programs for their therapeutic value to patients, some of whom are mentally as well as physically sick.

"AFTER CLAUDIO ARRAU finished one of his piano numbers a vet signed 'that's beautiful,'" said Miss Tennyson. "We learned later they were the first words that boy had spoken in months."

A letter from a Dallas, Tex., hospital said: "Today Jarmila Novotna came to our ward and sang for us. I can't tell you how important that hour was to us."

The letter was signed by a blind veteran.

Miss Tennyson expects to operate her concert bureau indefinitely. "People don't realize," she said soberly, "that we aren't going to have fewer veterans in our hospitals as time goes on. There will be more—and more."

Got the Whole Pack in a Dither

America's Economic Dictator

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON Voice of America broadcasts its criticism of dictatorships

David Lawrence

One man now says whether the steel mills shall close down or continue to operate.

The same man says whether there shall be coal for industrial plants as a whole.

The same man says whether people who use coal for fuel in their homes shall shiver or keep warm.

The same man controls the jobs of the workers and compels them to stop work even when they want to increase their earnings which they sorely need. This is a form of human slavery in which the dictator is master of the lives of these same workers.

Nobody in the whole history of the United States has ever exercised such a power of dictatorship over the lives of the American people.

This dictator's power is complete. The president of the United States is afraid of the economic dictator, and so is the congress. The votes of labor groups are needed and, if the dictatorship is overthrown by law, it will affect adversely the countless number of little dictatorships that have sprung up in the labor unions of the nation.

So, large groups of voters acquiesce and other large groups are seeking leadership to lead them out of the wilderness. But no political party as such ventures to take up the issue. To outlaw the dictatorship is supposed to be bad politics.

THE HISTORY of dictatorship in government reveals the same pattern in other countries. First there arise economic groups which assume dictatorial powers. Then other groups find that opposition through political methods is hopeless, and finally the way is paved for the totalitarian dictatorship which is embraced by a helpless, impatient and bewildered people.

The dictatorship in the coal industry in America has been accomplished over a period of years. First a supine Supreme court, politically minded and politically biased, ruled that labor unions could not be prosecuted for monopoly or restraints of interstate commerce, though the Constitution says that laws must be applied equally to all classes or be declared null and void.

NEXT THE NEW DEAL introduced a one-sided labor law, known as the Wagner act, whereby it was possible for a single person to achieve nation-wide bargaining powers and to close down a whole industry at will.

Then came a new law, known as the Taft-Hartley Act, whereby the people granted to the federal government the power to enjoin national strikes. But President Truman ran for office on a platform calling for repeal of this law, and he does not invoke the statute for fear of political injury in his next campaign for re-election.

Now a vital industry is slowly but surely being destroyed. Not only are coal miners being driven to look for work elsewhere—thus is manpower deliberately reduced—but coal production itself is curtailed by edict of the coal miners' union. This means the creation of artificial scarcity and a forcing upward of the price of fuel in order to compel the coal owners to increase the taxes levied on the industry by the miners' union in the form of a royalty per ton.

OTHER FUELS are being utilized as substitutes, and the market for coal is being deliberately diminished as a means of rigging the price. This form of price-fixing is a violation of the anti-trust laws, but nobody in the Truman administration dares to file such an anti-trust suit.

The reason is that there is fear of political reprisals from union labor whose money contributions to the election campaigns of the administration are preventing such action from being taken by new laws from being passed by the Democratic party.

One man today says coal shall be mined not at all for five days, then for only three days a week and maybe for a few months and then interrupted again.

The first economic dictator in America shrewdly appraises his power—for he has successfully intimidated the congress and the whole government of the United States. Maybe Russian papers had better not examine the American type of dictatorship too closely.

BIBLE QUOTATION

For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.—Romans 8:6.

Still at Large

By TRUMAN TWILL

BERLINERS are being torn apart at the spiritual seams by a difference of opinion between fakirs who claim they have been in contact with the shades of the late Adolf Hitler.

One of these muddled mediums says the frustrated fuhrer has passed along the reassuring word that he really knocked himself off when he reported to have bestowed that delayed blessing on mankind in April, 1945. But the other one insists Hitler has revealed in a spiritualist seance that he kited out of Germany by plane and reached Arabia safely.

Perhaps so. Because Hitler keeps showing up with significant regularity. He's the broody little character who couldn't lick his weight in house cats yet will reveal if you get his confidence that he is full of ambitious plans for giving orders to millions of his equals.

He's the apparently placid bird who sits down by himself with a sheet of paper and a pencil and scribbles hymns of hate and violence which he dispatches forthwith to publications, daring them to publish the truth about things as they are.

He's the patronizing character who professes to carry on a dispassionate discussion about a question with two sides to it, yet suddenly reveals when crowded into a corner that there's only one side to anything as far as he's concerned—his side, and machine guns would be the quickest way to close the issue.

He's the gentle soul who pretends he wouldn't harm a fly without a pang of regret but skims off a from a concealed cauldron of prejudice a scum of fantastic schemes that would make a nihilist shudder with horror.

He's the politician who twists the authority of his public office into patterns of revenge against persecutors who are the figments of his own diseased imagination.

He's the frustrated artist who tries to get even for his own inability to make a career in a highly competitive field by blaming his failure on some vile, deep plot to ruin society as a whole—and thinks up a still viler, deeper counter-plot of his own.

He's the dog in the manger who makes a firm resolution that if he can't have everything he wants, then no one will get anything he wants either, except on his terms.

He's the slack-mouthed opportunist who will make any game worth the candle if the outcome promises to be a greater measure of power for himself—the human being without scruples—the main-chancer who will stop at nothing to get his way—the rabble-rouser—the fool who will blow up the universe to prove it can be done.

If Adolf Hitler didn't escape to Arabia in the springtime of 1945, something suspiciously like him keeps popping up all the time. Maybe it's only Mussolini, the hyena who taught Hitler everything he knew. In any event, they're still with us, or something just as obnoxious that passes for a reasonable facsimile.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Toyland is open and every child should remember, when talking to Santa Claus, to give name, address and whether his father prefers a steam or electric-type locomotive.

This year there are quite a few new electronic toys... some of them suitable for children.

And stuffed animals are going very well except one woman phoned and said, "my husband just came home with a panda and he was staggering."

The man said, "that's too bad... how's your husband?"

Then he told her not to worry... all the pandas had been pre-ordered in a night club and it was found they wore better than the customers.

Anyway this is a wonderful season and we want everyone to enjoy it. The President even has invited the premier of Pakistan to come visit us while our selection of gifts is large and hasn't been pawed over too much.

He's the one who didn't come and get it himself... now we're sending for him.

America's 30-Year War

Anti-Red Laws Lack Real Punch

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON

THE WEAPONS brought up by Congress and the Supreme Court have hardly been what might be termed heavy artillery against the Communists.

The court says it cannot act effectively because Congress has not strengthened the basic laws which may be used against Communists—the Seditious Conspiracy Act (1861); the Espionage Act (1917), and the Immigration Act (1918).

Conversely, Congress maintains that it cannot strengthen these laws in any significant particular because such action would inevitably be ruled unconstitutional as an abridgment of the Bill of Rights—the ruling to come from the Supreme Court.

There, in essence, lie the weakness and strength in the U. S. war against Communism. From a democratic point of view the Constitution and the Bill of Rights are good — and sacred. From a Communist point of view they are gages and fetters, making it impossible to put down all but the bomb-throwing type of revolutionist.

CONSIDER CONGRESS FIRST:

Session after session has doggedly refused to enact laws which would abridge the rights of free speech, and freedom of assembly. The Hatch, Voorhis and Smith Acts, voted in the 1939-40 session, were aimed at Nazism and Fascism primarily.

Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, headed the first attempt to write a basic anti-Communist code, in 1931. Fish's committee sat in 13 cities, interrogated 275 witnesses and came up with a 14-point program so impossible to execute and so potentially harmful to the country that it died aborning. Only two of the recommendations bore fruit—to broaden the FBI's authority and to increase its funds so it could function more efficiently in the field.

Next came the McCormack-Dickstein Committee of 1935, which drew some blood. Its report held that the Communist Party was not a legitimate party at all, but was an adherent to foreign ideologies without any real concern for the internal weal at all.

THE COMMITTEE made six recommendations:

1. Legislation which resulted in the Foreign Agents Registration Act of 1938.

2. Action by the Secretary of Labor to terminate the stay order of any alien on a visitor's visa if he engaged in propaganda activities. Largely realized when the Immigration Service passed from the Labor to the Justice Department with greater powers.

3. Negotiation by the State Department of treaties under which foreign nations would agree to accept their nationals by deportation in cases of action against the U. S. No action on this one.

4. A law prohibiting advice or counsel to members of the armed services to disobey regulations. Covered in the Alien Registration act.

5. A law which would give U. S. attorneys over the land the same right to invoke the rule of the contempt against recalcitrant witnesses. No action.

6. Outlawing of the old "overthrow by force and violence" line. Partially achieved in the Smith and Voorhis Acts.

NOW PENDING is the Mundt-Ferguson bill, which would:

1. Outlaw advocating establishment of a dictatorship.

2. Forbid passage to alien organizations of any classified information affecting national security.

3. Punish any agent with up to 10 years and a $10,000 fine for receiving such information.

This bill met with no great success in the session just ended, but is likely to be a 1950 campaign issue and may be passed. How much emasculation will occur in its detailed provisions is anybody's guess. The old bogey that the Constitution may be violated hangs over it, as it has hung over virtually all previous bills.

On the Supreme Court side of the picture you find:

In the last three decades, the court has considered perhaps 50 cases involving Communists — though not Communism. The court has consistently ducked the question of whether the Reds advocate the overthrow of the government, in effect saying that its function is solely to rule on the constitutionality of decisions and not to make determinations about the legality or illegality of an organization.

The first case involving a subversive was that of John Turner, an Englishman, who entered the country illegally in 1904 and was proved to be an anarchist here for no good. The court upheld the constitutionality of Congress' deportation order. Thirty-odd similar cases have since been decided in lower courts, with the Supreme Court's ruling as precedent.

The first important case involving criminal syndicalism was

Record of the States:

Since 1919, there have been 116 laws dealing with Communism introduced or passed in all but three of the states—Republican Maine, Democratic Mississippi and Border State Missouri. The following digest—subject to court rulings and later legislation—is the approximate status of laws on the secondary governmental level:

States requiring that a party have polled a certain percentage of the vote in the previous election before being admitted to the ballot: All but five—Arkansas, Georgia, Kansas, New Mexico and South Carolina.

States barring any party affiliated with Communism or a foreign political movement: Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Wyoming and Wisconsin. Similar legislation was enacted in California and Illinois but judicially ruled unconstitutional.

States requiring loyalty oaths from teachers and other public employees: 27.

States flatly banning Communists from all public employment: 17.

States requiring an affidavit from political candidates that they do not advocate overthrow of the government by force or violence, without naming the Communist Party: Arkansas, Delaware, Indiana, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Wyoming.

States with laws against sedition (inciting disorder leading to insurrection): 20.

States which have had committees investigating communistic and other subversive activity: New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, California, Washington, Illinois, Maryland and New Jersey loyalty laws have been found unconstitutional by state courts.

that of Ben Gitlow, who will be remembered as an ardent Comrade who saw the light and became one of Moscow's most articulate opponents. Gitlow, caught in New York's Lusk committee raids, was convicted as editor of The Revolutionary Age, which had printed the left-wing manifesto advocating riots and establishment of a proletarian dictatorship in 1919.

GITLOW FOUGHT his three-to-five-year sentence to the Supreme Court, whose decision was that freedom of speech did not necessarily guarantee such inflammatory matter as was contained in the manifesto. Gitlow went back to the pen but was pardoned by Gov. Alfred E. Smith before he completed his sentence. Earl Browder carried his passport-fraud conviction to the high court, lost, and started his four-year sentence. Then in 1942 he was fantastically pardoned by President Roosevelt, who feared the long sentence was something the public might construe as a "penalty imposed because of political views."

Following the Browder case, the Supreme Court went liberal in a big way and gave the Communists considerable freedom of operation.

In the Austrian-born Joseph G. Strecker case, the court decided that past membership in the Communist Party does not constitute grounds for deportation of unnaturalized aliens.

In the Russia-born William Schneiderman case, the court decided that there must be clear evidence a Communist Party member advocated party principles before he could be deported.

THE HARRY BRIDGES CASE set the precedent that there must be clear evidence of Communist Party membership before an alien could be ordered deported. But his 12-year fight against deportation may again come to the Supreme Court if a new trial in San Francisco finds Bridges guilty of perjury in his 1945 citizenship application.

And so it goes. There never has been a clear-cut Supreme Court decision on a Communist's contempt of Congress or the court, though such opinions may be forthcoming in this year's cases of the 10 Hollywood writers and of Eugene Dennis, Communist party secretary-general.

What you should know about Christmas

THE pealing of church bells, Dec. 25, 1730, inspired Charles Wesley to write the words of Hark! the Herald Angels Sing. Isaac Mendelssohn, whose music was chosen for it, didn't believe it would be popular! He said, "I'm sure that piece will never do as sacred music."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A Blueprint For Confident Living

ONE DAY NOT LONG AGO, a shabbily dressed elderly woman appeared at the offices of a great utility company. Shyly, she asked to see the treasurer of the company. His secretary was used to dealing with crackpots; someone was always calling to sell the company some idea or other. She asked the old woman what she wanted. The old woman, haltingly explained that she had been rummaging in her attic, and, exploring some old drawers long unused, she had come across some old papers which looked like stock certificates and she "just wondered" if they were of any value. She was having a hard time getting along on her widow's pension, she explained to the secretary, as she held out a grimy manila envelope stuffed with yellow engraved papers.

The secretary looked once at the contents of the envelope and hurried into her boss' office. In a few moments, the treasurer himself appeared and ushered the woman into his private sanctum. Her "old papers," he explained, were valid stock certificates and worth sixty-five thousand dollars.

WOULD YOU BE SURPRISED if someone told you that you have a hidden fortune? Yet, the truth is that you do have unsuspected values. For, deeply buried in your mind, you have all the wealth and power you need to live a victorious, successful, happy and useful life. All you have to do is to believe and put into operation a simple blueprint of confident living.

One of the most successful men I know found his blueprint in a short sentence. He told me that story of how he found it when I visited him in his office at his plant. The office was decorated in the most modern fashion. Gay colors were blended with exotic woods to produce a striking effect. Everything looked new and polished. Yet on his beautiful desk, the most conspicuous object was a battered old Bible. I commented on this seeming inconsistency.

"That's no inconsistency," he said. "That book is the most up-to-date thing in this plant. Our equipment will wear out and styles in office furniture will change, but that book is so far ahead of us that we can never catch up with it."

He went on to tell me that his mother had given him that Bible when he went away to college. Like many youngsters, he took it along to please his mother but hardly ever turned its pages. After he finished college, things didn't go well for him. He felt he was unpopular and disliked. He roused resentment because he was negative in his thinking, too cocky and opinionated.

Then one day he picked up that old Bible and leafed through it. And one sentence seemed to leap up at him from a page and, from then on, he felt his life had been changed. That sentence was, "The Lord is the strength of my life, in this will I be confident."

HE DECIDED then to put his faith in God and a new confidence began to fill his mind: confidence in himself, confidence in his own abilities, confidence in the future. He began to read the Bible when he needed guidance. He made it his blueprint for confident living. You can release this same power within yourself to find fresh confidence and new determination to get what you want out of life. Marcus Aurelius, the Roman emperor who was also a philosopher, wrote, "Your life is what your thoughts make of it." Think negatively and you will get negative results. Think positively and you will get positive results. Your thoughts create an atmosphere that, like a magnet, attracts either positive or negative things. Attract positive things and live positively. Fill your heart with trust in the Lord's guidance.

The use of the Bible and prayer are practical techniques which can enable you to find hidden treasures within yourself. Study them and use them and you will truly realize yourself. That is the secret of how to master life rather than allowing life to master you. (Copyright 1949, Post-Hall Syn., Inc.)

College Grid Wars To Close Today

Irish-S. M. U. Tilt Headliner

Notre Dame 27-Point Favorite In Windup

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Mighty Notre Dame—scourge of the college gridiron for the past four years—wound up its season today when it tangled with crippled Southern Methodist.

This is the final Saturday of football in the regular campaign, and as a matter of fact there were three post-season bowl games on the card—the Glass, Refrigerator and Shrine.

Notre Dame, which fell before Great Lakes back in December of 1945 in its last loss, rated a heavy favorite—some 27 points worth.

Any chances Matty Bell's SMU aggregation entertained of beating the Irish virtually vanished when it became known that All-American Back Doak Walker would sit out the game.

A leg injury which has been plaguing the Doaker has not responded to treatment and what would have been a gala farewell to college football for him will be a sad party, indeed.

There is only one other game of major importance on the calendar. That pits Alabama against Auburn, and the Crimson Tide was a heavy favorite on the basis of its 6-2-1 record.

The Southern Conference also closed out the year's business with the Southern California-The Citadel clash at Charleston.

Arizona State of Temple took on Utah State on its home field. Arizona State tangles with Xavier of Ohio in the Salad Bowl in Phoenix on Jan. 2.

In one of the three bowl clashes, the University of Toledo, which shows a 6-3-0 record entertained the University of Cincinnati with a 6-4-0 mark, in the Glass bowl.

A three-inch blanket of snow covered the field yesterday.

In Miami, last night, 34,886 fans in the Orange bowl saw the University of Maryland's Terrapins defeat the University of Miami Hurricanes, 13-0. The Marylanders have a Jan. 2 Gator Bowl date with Missouri at Jacksonville, Fla.

Browns Sign Lynn Chandnois

Grab Michigan State Star From Redskins

CLEVELAND, Dec. 3—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns have signed a prize new halfback, but he can't ease their shortage at that position for tomorrow's All-America football conference play-off with the Buffalo Bills.

The new Brownie is Lynn E. Chandnois, 190-pound Michigan State star. Salary terms of the signing were not announced.

Chandnois, completing his final year at the East Lansing, Mich., school, averaged 6.6 yards a try totting the pigskin 129 times in the season just ended. He has been invited to play in the East-West game of college all-stars in San Francisco, Dec. 31, and his signing with the Browns will not affect his eligibility.

"I consider Lynn the best all-around halfback in college football, and I only wish we could use him Sunday," said Coach Paul Brown of the Browns.

"We're at our lowest ebb physically of all time," Brown said. "A lot depends on the weather in this one."

The bills are expected to be at full strength when they arrive tonight. They tied the Browns 28-28 and 7-7 in two regular season contests.

Signing of Chandnois was a rebuff to the Washington Redskins of the National league, whose owner, George Preston Marshall, only yesterday irritated the junior pro loop by proposing its Baltimore club jump to the NFL. Chandnois was Washington's No. 1 Baltimore club jump to the NFL, as well as the first choice of the Browns in the A-A draft.

Interviewed on the campus last night, the 24-year-old Michigan State ace, said:

"I signed with the Browns on the 29th largely because the Washington Redskins have been going around saying I signed with Cleveland before the start of

Yankees Are Seeking Starting Pitcher

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Baseball's champion New York Yankees, instead of resting on their laurels, are seeking help for next year.

The American league pennant winners are particularly desirous of putting over a deal for a "real starting pitcher," General Manager George Weiss said yesterday.

Expert observers took this to mean Righthander Rae Scarborough, who won 13 and lost 11 with the lowly Washington Senators the past season. It remains to be seen, however, whether the Yanks can pluck a star flinger, for most every other major team would like to get one, too.

Weiss said he has been dickering with every other American league club except the Boston Red Sox. "I intend to resume these talks at the minor league meetings next week in Baltimore," he added. "I think there is a fair chance of making a deal, either at Baltimore or later."

Bill McKechnie Quits Baseball For Farming

BRADENTON, Fla., Dec. 3—(AP)—Deacon Bill McKechnie, one of baseball's colorful veterans, is quitting the game. He announced here yesterday that he is retiring to become a farmer.

The Cleveland Indians had announced two days ago that McKechnie and Steve O'Neill would not be retained as coaches next year.

McKechnie, 62, and in baseball since 1906, is the only man in the game to guide three major league clubs to pennants, one of them the Cincinnati Reds.

He joined the Indians as a coach in 1947.

In a brief statement yesterday he said: "I'm a farmer now. The missus and I have been talking it over for several weeks and I finally decided to retire. I've served a long time in baseball and now I'm planning to stay at home a while, building my own house, and enjoy life."

STRIKES TO SPARE

The highest individual game of the season was bowled Wednesday night in the Classic league by Charley Huffer, when he banged out a mighty 279.

Huffer did it the hard way, with 10 consecutive strikes following two nine-pin spares in the first two frames. His other games of 183 and 191 gave him a 653 series, the season's high in the league. He bowls with Kelly's Service.

The 279 game overshadowed another fine effort of 259 rolled by Dick Hahn of the Bowling Center team. The score enabled his team to hit 1008 for the game.

Bill Kring of Kelly's rolled games of 191, 219 and 199 for a 609 set.

Kring came back Thursday night in the Commercial league to hit a neat 619 on games of 203, 267 and 149. The 267 was high in that league this season.

Chuck Demnisky of Lisbon, bowling with Schafer's tavern, ripped the maples for 227, 215 and 169 for a 611 series.

Ann DeJane led the women's Commercial league Wednesday with a 545 score, composed of games of 211, 146 and 188.

Quakers Poor In Early Games

Bob Theiss Elected 49-50 Team Captain

Not all pleased with the show of his Salem High Quakers in two practice tilts this week, Coach Bob Miller took his cagers to Damascus Friday afternoon for another scrimmage with Goshen High.

Tuesday night the Quakers played Leetonia and Wednesday the Goshen team provided opposition in the local gym, as the Salem mentor prepared his team for the opener Tuesday night with Lisbon.

In neither tilt did his team measure up to expectations, Miller said. Defensive play was ragged by the team as a whole and offensive mistakes deprived the squad of many scoring opportunities.

There was some improvement Friday, he admitted.

Thursday night the team selected Junior Bobby Theiss as the 1949-50 team captain. Theiss, who figures to be a starter Tuesday, is one of four lettermen on the team.

This week 10 boys from last year's Freshman team have been working out with the varsity. They will form this year's reserve combine.

Included in the roster are Bill Pasco, Fred Csepke, Bob Roth, Ray Smith, Benny Roelen, Martin Lutsch, JJim Pearson, Dick Perkins, Charles Snedden and Jerry Ball. All are Sophomores.

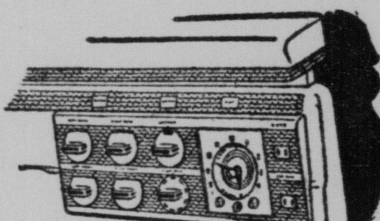

Most of the height on the reserve squad is centered in Csepke, football tackle, who is as hard to move as a fire plug, and Lutsch, who stands about 6-2.

One of Salem's future opponents, East Liverpool, promises to be rough. Merrill Hall's team, featuring only one veteran, Ray Griffith, held a scrimmage with East Palestine last week. At the end of 15 minutes play, the Pottery held a 37-3 edge over the Bulldogs.

La Starza Winner Over Cesar Brion

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Ezzard Charles is safe on his NBA heavyweight throne. Young Roland La Starza, unbeaten Bronx butcher boy with 37 straight wins, isn't quite ready.

For two rounds last night at Madison Square garden, La Starza seemed to have arrived, he was an aggressive stalker with punishing power against Argentine's Cesar Brion. Then he went back to his old patient counter-punching.

Maybe flaming youth ran out of steam. For the next eight rounds these two 22-year-old youngsters put on a tame and crude exhibition. La Starza won, to be sure, by unanimous decision but the bout dragged to an uninspiring end.

La Starza, a 5 to 9 favorite, handed out the more punishment with his effective counter-punching while Brion wasted his power with wild whistling rights. Brion weighed 192½, La Starza 187. La Starza remains an excellent prospect, but he will need a couple of thumping victories before they bring up the subject of Charles.

1949 Building Figures Highest

Sure Record Mark Seen By End Of Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(AP)—The Departments of Commerce and Labor said today that a record number of dollars spent for new construction is "virtually assured" for 1949.

A joint statement by the two departments placed the total value of new construction to the end of November at $17,700,000,000. This was two per cent above that of the first 11 months of last year.

New construction valued at more than $1,700,000,000 was put in place during November, the January.

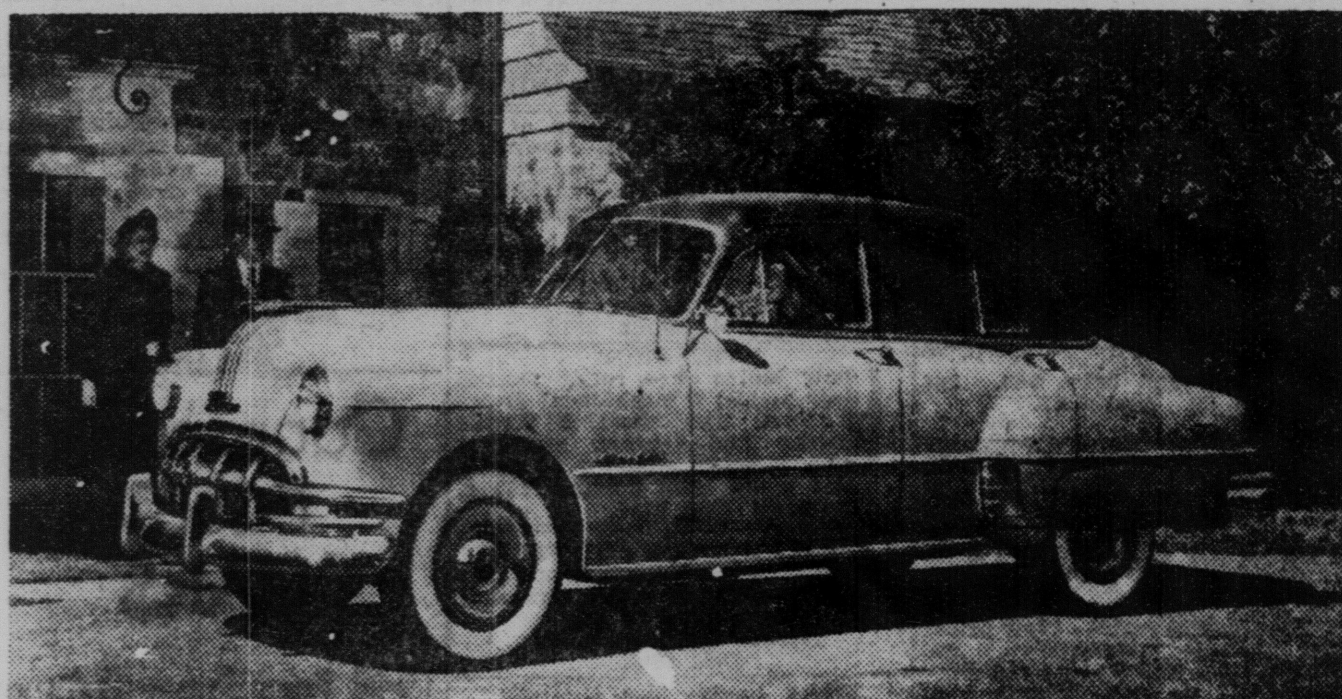

statement said. The November total was down eight per cent from October but was still six per cent above the November 1948 figure.

Private non-farm homebuilding during November was valued at $700,000,000, 14 per cent above the same month a year ago. Publicly-financed new construction amounted to $466,000,000, or 19 per cent above last November.

Sen. Taft's Report Tour Ended For 1949

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) has ended his "report to the people" tour of Ohio for the year—still 12 counties short of his goal of visiting all of the state's 88 counties.

He's not ignoring those 12 counties though, his headquarters here said yesterday. All will be visited on week ends early next year—after congress reconvenes in January.

PONTIAC for 1950 has many appearance and mechanical changes resulting in sharpened beauty and improved performance. Both six and eight cylinder engines again are available in all Chieftain and Streamliner models and the horsepower of the eight cylinder engine has been increased. Pictured is the popular Chieftain four-door sedan.

Converted Nazi Must Leave U.S.

Ohioan, Back On War Trial Trip, Unwanted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(AP)—E. V. Sittler, an Ohioan who became a German citizen and broadcast from Berlin radio "Station Debunk" during the war, has been ordered deported from the United States.

An immigration official said yesterday that a warrant will be served at Houghton, Mich., where Sittler recently was fired from the faculty of Michigan College of Mining and Technology. A hearing will be held probably at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The deportation order was issued, the official said, because Sittler declared he would fight being returned to Germany upon expiration of his visitor's permit, Jan. 1, 1950.

Sittler was brought here in 1946 to testify in treason trials. The attorney general instructed immigration officials to send him and other German witnesses back to Germany after the conviction last month of Herbert

John Burgman, former Berlin embassy clerk.

Born in Delaware, Ohio, Sittler went to Germany, became a German citizen in 1940 and joined the Nazi party in 1942.

Ravenna Writer Lauds Salem's Decorations

Salem's new Christmas decorations have not escaped notice of visitors. Recently in the Ravenna Evening Record, the following was printed in a column, "The Roasting Pan," by Dorothy Wolcott:

"We may find someone who will disagree, but to us Salem's Christmas lights are something of which that community may be justly proud and from which others might take a few tips.

"To begin with, there are varicolored lights strung from one white-wire pole to another, the electric wires concealed with Christmas greens, then on each light pole are Christmas symbols. When we saw them at noon-time on Thursday, we thought they might be similar to those in Kent, but it so happened that we returned after the lights were turned on. . . Inside each symbol was a light. . . lovely to behold.

"The entire arrangement is beautiful and something of which any city might be proud."

Canton Embezzler Before Judge Freed

CLEVELAND, Dec. 3—(AP)—Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed will hear a probation officer's report before acting on a young Canton, O., housewife's plea of guilty to embezzling charges.

Mrs. Marilyn J. Beard, 22, said she used the money to pay bills at a Canton department store. She is accused of embezzling deposits of $289.26 and $279.95 from the People's bank in Canton in late 1948. She was employed as a teller there.

In another case yesterday, Henry Adams Smith, 27, of Youngstown, O., was sentenced to a year and a day after pleading guilty to selling two marijuana cigarettes.

Another Youngstown man, Paul Guerrieri, 52, was given an 18-month term and fined $500 after he pleaded guilty to possession of a 75-gallon still.

Plan Week's Food on Monday

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
TAKE the blues out of Monday by planning good things to make during the remainder of the week. Here are a few gloom chaser recipes:

Brazil Nut Devil's Food Cake

(Yields two 8-inch layers)

One-half cup fat, 2 cups firmly-packed brown sugar, 2 eggs, 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts, 1 cup and 2 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream fat. Add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add eggs separately and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt; add Brazil nuts. Add flour mixture alternately with milk to batter. Add vanilla. Pour into 2 deep greased 8-inch pans and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes and remove from pans. Cover with desired frosting or serve with whipped cream.

For a quickly-prepared and appetizing luncheon dish, serve stewed tomatoes with tiny ham and watercress dumplings.

Stewed Tomatoes With Dumplings

(4 servings)
Two No. 2 cans tomatoes (5 cups), 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1½ cups biscuit mix, 1 cup finely chopped ham bologna (4 ounces), ½ bunch watercress, 1 egg, 1/3 cup milk.

Place contents of cans of tomatoes in wide bottomed saucepan or Dutch oven. Season with sugar, salt and pepper. Bring to boil over moderate heat. Meanwhile combine biscuit mix and ham in mixing bowl. Finely cut watercress leaves and lightly stir into biscuit mix. Beat egg and milk together until smooth. Add to biscuit mix to make moist dough. Drop by heaping teaspoon-fuls over the boiling tomatoes.

Cook uncovered for about 10 minutes. Then cover tightly and continue cooking until the dumplings are done, about 5 minutes longer. Serve immediately in shallow soup plates.

Weather Details

(International News Service)
The rising temperatures throughout the state today are a pleasant contrast to the early morning mercury drops that gave some Ohioans' coldest moments of the fall season.

Areas as Mansfield and Canton suffered temperature drops in the low teens, and Cleveland's 15 degrees placed December 3 one degree ahead of November 22, Forecaster Milton Davis said.

"Until today, the November reading of 16 degrees made it the coldest day so far this year for Cleveland," he explained.
But there doesn't seem to be much more of the same in store for Ohioans today and tomorrow, Davis added. It will be warmer tonight, with winds and scattered showers through the state.

Lower temperatures are predicted for Sunday, with most of the rains turning into snow flurries. They will range from the mid 30s in northeastern portions of the state to mid 40s in the southwest.

The department of highways reported slippery roads in spots north of a line marked by Bucyrus, Canton and Salem, and east of the line marked by Bucyrus and Sandusky.
